County Commission Considers Roads Long Time Planning And Subdivisions

The Palm Beach County Commission, which several months has been seeing its sub-division road improvement program hard hit by spiraling prices, may put county crews to work on the improvements rather than letting private contractors do the work.

The whole problem stems from recent bids received from the commission which topped estimates by dollars per front foot. The latest price came last week when the commission put in a bid for an improvement program on a sub division street had been estimated to cost more than $8 per front foot. The commission noted that a street in the same sub division improved a few years ago cost $1.50 per foot, or about half that amount.

The commission ordered its engineering department to make a minute study of improvements costs in an effort to determine if the county could put in the work or work on the sub division job.

The entire commission said the improvement program is one of the most important aspects that it can give to property owners. Under the new commission does the work which is eventually paid off at the installation plan by residents whose property is located on the improvement streets.

In recent weeks, some improvement jobs have been junked after property owners heard final cost estimates in the work.

In other actions at its last meeting, the commission will be done by the state, the same agency which made the original survey setting out the county's highway needs for 20 years.

Principal reason for the upgrading, according to Edward

McDonald, state road board chairman, is to make sure that the highway program for Palm Beach County will fit into plans for Federal aid. A recent congressional act says that no highway not in the planning stage by 1963, will be eligible for Federal aid.

BG Alliance Church Dedication Scheduled Sunday Jan. 6 at 3 p.m.

New Church Building Located at 425 E. Canal Street North

The service of the new Belle Glade Alliance Church will be on Sunday, January 6, 1963, at 3 p.m. The speaker will be Dr. Richard H. H. District Superintendent of the Southeastern District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

For a better understanding of how this church began, let's look into its history.

In the fall of 1956 a small group of people, under the leadership of Rev. David F. Frazier, met together in a home for prayer meeting. This was to be the beginning of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Belle Glade.

For the past six years this group has expanded and sought to erect a church building. The earnest Christians have met in the club house in City Park for the services and activities of the church.

Rev. Frazier, after starting the church at Belle Glade, was appointed to Viet Nam to serve as a missionary under the Christian and Missionary Alliance. By summer of 1962, plans were being made for the building of a church, and in July, 1961, the building was started.

Bert L. Lovette, who worked hard in the ministry of the church until May, 1961. At that time Rev. Lovette accepted a call to the Fellowship Alliance Church at Tampa, Florida.

Accepting the call, Rev. Jackson F. Edwards came to pastor the Christian and Missionary Alliance church of Belle Glade, known as the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. By summer of 1962, plans were being made for the building of a church, and in July, 1961, the building was started.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Merle, Boynton; William E. Tidings III, WPB; Mrs. Kathleen Kirton, Boynton.

Louisianians will be in the area for the purpose of touring sugar mills and looking over the general cane production.

Jaycees Endorse $1,400,000 Sewerage System Extension

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Belle Glade is the first civic organization that has officially gone on record endorsing the proposed $1,400,000 sewerage system extension.

While the commission will not be bound by the so-called "straw vote," it is anticipated that the outcome will have its influence on the city father's decision.

Jaycees President George Ridder said that the vote to endorse the sewerage project was for the health welfare and progress of the city.

The extension of the system would see 90 percent of the city served and would allow the plant, now operating at minimum capacity, to be fully utilized.

Although there are only 600 connections on the present system the revenue has been enough to pay for the operating expenses and interest on the bonds with a surplus of some $10,000.

The cost of the plant was $600,000 when it was built in 1957.

The bond issue for the extension will also provide for the payment of the original indebtedness for the plant. This conversion will reduce the interest on the bonds by almost 1 percent.

City Manager Frank Anderson said that the Jaycees will be eligible for Federal aid on the project amounting to $77,000. If the project is approved by the voters, a formal application for these funds will be made immediately.

While the Jaycees are the first to publicly endorse the program, the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce urges every citizen to study the issue and by all means to vote Jan. 8th.

Flower Arranging Workshop Jan. 4

Mrs. Palm Hemker will conduct a flower arranging demonstration and workshop for H. D. members at the Mounts Building Friday, January 4, 9:30 to 12 noon. H. D. members who are interested may come and learn the art of flower arranging.

Mrs. Hemker writes a garden column for a local West Palm Beach newspaper and is an instructor to other flower arrangers.

Louisianians will be in the area for the purpose of touring sugar mills and looking over the general cane production.

La. Sugar Growers To Visit Here Tues.

Sugar Growers Cooperative of Florida will host a Louisiana Sugar Growers group Jan. 8th.

Public relations Manager Bob Lee says 75 to 100 are expected to attend. In addition to the 35-40 Louisianians there will be representatives from each of the sugar mills in the area, experimental station staff members and the press.

Louisianians will be in the area for the purpose of touring sugar mills and looking over the general cane production.

UNCLE DAN from DOODLIE says:

Dear Master Editor:

On account of the fine education I got down through the years, I have been able to get away from all them Federal agencies. I ain't never had much need for a dictionary. Once in a great while I might make a misuse in my spelling, but them occasions is so rare that it don't bother me none.

And it's for the same reason that Uncle Dan invested in an Encyclopedia. Any feller that studies real good all the information they put in the pamphlets from the Department of Agriculture, the Government Printing Office, the S. S. I. and former members to name a few, I git regular, knows about anythin' important.

For instant, I received notice last week that the U. S. Information Agency has got four new blocklets ready for the taxpayers. Uncle Dan, in his "Space Exploration," "Trade Expansion," "Mending Men's Suits," and "Growing Ornamental Bamboo." If a feller will git his name on the proper Government mailing lists, they ain't no need, Missses, to tell him to buy an Encyclopedia.

But it looks like I'm going to have to go over to Ed Doolittle's and look up a mather in his dictionary. Every time I pick up the paper I see where a Government "research agency" is looking for more money. I fingered "research" and it's makin' me lookin' for somesum, but nobody could spend that much money just lookin' for somesum. I got to see if "research" ain't got more meaning.

I do admit that a heap of this research is good. For instant, I was reading where a research agency discovered that empty pecan, walnut and almond shells was fine for blasting out jet engines. They bought $30,000 worth of them, tried 'em out at the Mobile Air

Yours truly,
Uncle DanWomen's Junior-Senior Civic Leagues Installs Officers
